Dear Carnegie Families,

The health and safety of your children is always our top priority, which is why CPS has been testing the water levels in our schools for lead.

Earlier this summer, I let you know that one or more water samples from our school had a lead level above EPA's action level of 15ppb. Today I'm pleased to let you know that our initial test results have been addressed and remediated – and the retest results show all fixtures are below the action level, meaning that they are safe for use by students and staff.

The full results of our school's water samples, including information on the successful remediation plan, can be found online at cps.edu/leadtesting. If you have questions or concerns, please contact TBD.

I thank you for your patience and support, and look forward to seeing you this fall.

Docilla Pollard, Principal
